Nikola Vucevic

On the frustrations of knowing that the team is better than it's showing right now...

"It's frustrating, especially because we're losing in big margins. It's frustrating, especially because we're not really playing the right way and we're not doing what we're supposed to be doing. We've got to stick to our roles and to what we can do; not try to overdo stuff. We've just got a lot of work to do. It's not fun right now, but we've got to find a way. It's still early and there are still a lot of games to play, but we've got to figure it out quick."

On what area he feels that the team needs to improve on...

"Playing together; that's been mainly the issue. Offensively, moving the ball, sharing, and making plays for others; that's got to be everybody's mindset. I'm going to take to the paint to make a play for somebody else. If I make it to the basket, great, and if not, somebody else will be open. That's how we have to play. We have to always move, always cut, set screens, and move the ball. That's the only way we can play. Defensively also, I think we can be much better as a team and we can help each other be more vocal on that end and be more aggressive. Obviously tonight they (Minnesota Timberwolves) were on fire but we let them feel comfortable and get there."

On his performance in the second half...

"I was just trying to be aggressive and get something going, but I think it was just mostly us playing much better offensively and moving the ball. Everybody was getting a lot of good looks, we were getting fast break points, we were better defensively, we made them take some bad shots, and we were able to rebound, and get out and run. That's how we have to play. Offensively we were moving the ball, making plays for each other, and making the extra pass. That's how we have to play and I keep saying that since the beginning of the year. We have to do that or otherwise it's not going to be fun to play whether we win or lose. We've got to find a way to play unselfish. Every team in the NBA that's successful plays that way."

On the frustrations of knowing that the team is better than it's showing right now...

"It's pretty frustrating. It's just the way we started again. We're just not starting the game the right way. We all have to do a better job at it. Our starting unit has to go in there with a little more energy than we're doing and in the end, we have to really play to win the game and that's just the bottom line. It's frustrating when we start with 17 points and we give up 39 points in the first quarter. You can't win a game like that if you expect to be a playoff team. Right now we shouldn't be talking about chemistry because we've had enough time to figure that out. Now it's just about doing; getting out there and getting it done. As long as you go out there, play hard, and give your best, I think we'll be able to live with the results. We're taking some plays off, we're playing some plays that we feel like, and this is a challenge for us. We have to figure it out in order for us to overcome this. Again, I think we have the right coaches that know the game, have been around for a while and will figure it out. We have the right players and we all have to figure this out. Obviously it really doesn't feel good, we have to be honest with ourselves, and we've got to do better next game."
